Income Tax - Change of Address

How Can I Change My Address With the Department of Revenue?

For income tax, the address you use on your income tax return is the address we will use on your account. If your address changed since the last time you filed an income tax return, use your current address on the form. We will use whatever address you use on your most recent income tax return.

If your address changed after you filed your income tax return and you want to make sure your refund gets to you, please send us an e-mail that includes your Social Security Number(s), current address and expected income tax refund amount.

If you need to make an address change for a business, please send us an e-mail that includes the Colorado business registration number (LXX-XXXXX-0000), the name of the business and the current and previous mailing addresses.

You may email the department by visiting the Web site at www.taxcolorado.com and choose "Contact Us"